Twin Brothers Used Money From Common Fund—Accounting Desired.

Brattleboro, Dec. 31.—An unusual situation is presented in the Albert Williams estate, which was advertised to be settled in the probate court Saturday afternoon, but which was continued to a date to be determined upon account of the tangled condition of affairs between the estate and Alfred Williams, brother of Albert Williams.

The widow, Mrs. Albert Williams, was appointed administratrix ten years ago, but for some reason she never has made a final accounting, and the brother is anxious to know how large his individual estate is. These two brothers were twins and were born in Marlboro August 30, 1838. They were sons of Samuel Williams and had eight brothers and sisters. After the death of their father the twins remained on the old homestead and carried on the farm. They turned their savings into one fund and whenever either needed to spend any money he took it from this fund without making any accounting. Both married and the two families lived together, buying their provisions as for one family and using from the common stock without keeping separate accounts. The brothers worked hard, bought other farms, and finally located on the Stephen Merrill farm in South Newfane about thirty years ago. By the practice of rigid economy they accumulated property worth $35,000. Albert Williams died in South Newfane November 2, 1897, and his widow, Martha, daughter of the late Brigham Powers, of Marlboro, was appointed administratrix of his estate. Since then the affairs of the household have been conducted in a manner similar to that which prevailed before Albert Williams' death.

E. W. Gibson is counsel for the administratrix and H. G. Barber represents the surviving brother. The only other estate of interest in the probate court was that of Calista Stebbins, of Newfane. The residue of her estate of $471.30, will be divided equally between the Woman's Baptist Home Missionary society and the Woman's Baptist Missionary society.

Badly Used Up.

Abraham Brown of Winterton, N. Y., had a very remarkable experience; he says: "Doctors got badly mixed up over me. One bottle did me more good than all the five doctors prescribed." Guaranteed to cure blood poisoning, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney complaints, by the Red Cross Pharmacy. 50c.

A POINT FOR HARDEN

Kaiser's Sister Gave Him His Information

TESTIMONY OF THE FORMER

Adviser of Von Bismarck—He Quotes Also Opinion of "Iron" Chancellor—This Was Highly Unfavorable to Prince zu Eulenburg.

Berlin, Dec. 31.—When the trial of Maximilian Harden for the publication of a criminal libel upon Count Kuno von Moltke was resumed yesterday a deposition by Prof. Schweining, taken in Munich on Saturday, was read. Dr. Schweining, who was the personal physician of the late Prince Bismarck, deposed that he met Harden twice in 1892 and twice in 1897. He met him first on the introduction of Bismarck. Harden on these occasions, met the hereditary Princess of Saxe-Meinungen, sister of the Kaiser. She was under his (the doctor's) treatment at the time. The Princess spoke to Harden about the Count von Holstein and expressed credulity as to the reports that were current about him, but she added that practices such as he was alleged to be guilty of were carried on even in the highest circles, as was well known.

Dr. Schweining testified further that Frau von Elbe, count Kuno von Moltke's divorced wife, in conversing with him (the witness) made against her husband the charges she had advanced in her evidence. Witness considered her perfectly healthy at the time and that she showed no signs of trial poisoning. Witness introduced Frau von Elbe to Harden at the request of the former. He had heard rumors concerning Prince zu Eulenburg and his friends over in Bismarck's time and had spoken of the dangerous influence of the Eulenburgs as irresponsible advisers of the Crown. He had said that if this was so astutely arranged that the ruler noticed it, the camouflages could not last. Dr. Schweining had heard Count von Moltke called "Sweet Kuno."
